It is appreciated that the statement is open about failures in regard to misappropriation of assets and cases of fraud and how the organisation aimed at learning from these mistakes.</li> <li>Later in the report, World Vision mentions that a new definition of accountability, encompassing internal and external practices, was adopted in January 2015. The Panelregards this workshop as Good Practice forother Charter Members and welcomesprogress updates in future reports to hearevidence how national office reporting has defacto improved due to cascading accountabilitythrough the organisation.   |   |
| 3.6 Report boundary / Specific limitations   |   |
| 3.7 Fully addressedAmong other operational changes, World Visionhas started new operations in 2014 to respondto the critical needs of people affected by war inIraq and Syria. As mentioned in the openingstatement, channelling large volumes of donoraid to sensitive locations such as Iraq posesnew challenges and the Panel looks forward tohearing more about this in the next report.   | Efforts to share our experience with ouremergency response in Syria/ Iraq will bemade in our next report.   |
| 3.8 Basis for reporting  |   |
| <ul> <li>Fully addressed</li> <li>This report is produced on behalf of all World</li> <li>Vision entities, including VisionFund</li> <li>International. The report does not cover</li> <li>community-based civil society organisations</li> <li>(CBOs), which in some countries are contracted</li> <li>to manage particular aspects of programmes.</li> <li>It is positively noted that the Global</li> <li>Accountability unit was set up in 2014 including</li> <li>a full-time Partnership Leader.</li> </ul>  | Noted with thanks.  |
| 3.10 Reporting parameters  |   |
| Fully addressedDuring 2014, World Vision developed a newonline programme management informationsystem, Horizon 3, which brings togetherpreviously disparate systems to track and reporton finance, sponsorship and programme- relateddata. During FY15, a second wave ofimplementation will include a range ofenhancements such as mobile data collection,dashboards and reporting. It is said that this willsignificantly strengthen the organisation's abilityto utilise data for timely reporting and evidence-based decision- making (see also NGO3). ThePanel looks forward to being informed onprogress in this regard. | Noted. Horizon 3 is a very important toolthat supports monitoring and reporting ofvarious areas of WV programs seeking toleverage a digital platform. We will shareprogress and challenges in implementationof Horizon 3 in our next update/report. |

| 3.12 Reference table  |   |
| Fully addressedThe reference table is provided on pages 56 to60. Whereas the page references are correct inthis table, the mentioned indicators underdifferent headings are not correct (e.g. "Aboutthe report" on pages 4/5 refers to 3.1, 3.3, 3.5,3.6, 3.7 and 3.8 and not to 2.1, 2.2 and 2.3).   | We will continue improving our report –including the alignment of references in thedocument.  |
| IV. Mission, Values, Governance, and S  | takeholder Engagement   |
| 4.1 Governance structure  |   |
| Fully addressed   |   |
| The overall governance and operationalstructure are described in more detail in the2010 and 2012 reports, whereas this responsegives relevant updates on issues raised in last  | We appreciate recognition of the good practice.   |
| gives relevant updates on issues raised in fastyear's Panel feedback. Thus, the report outlineshow World Vision's federal governancestructure optimally supports the efficientachievement of the organisation's mission inpractice (e.g. regional and national perspectivesof represented stakeholder groups formdecision-making), which power is with localentities and what kind of risk management is inplace. In particular how the risk management isset up (page 21) is considered Good Practicefor other Charter Members. A link to thementioned Charter for Relationships forEngagement would be appreciated in nextyear's report. | As indicated in our last response to the IRP'sfeedback on the 2013 report, some of ourinternal documents, including policies areposted on an internal portal accessible to allWorld Vision staff. Any request for specificpolicies from outside of WV will need to bemade to the Global AccountabilityPartnership Leader who will avail thesedocuments/policies. We will providerelevant links to documents that areavailable on our external website in ournext update/report. |
| 4.2 Division of power between the governance body and managementPartially addressed  | Noted and the issue raised will be  |

| The work of different Board committees ismentioned throughout the report (e.g.Partnership Governance Committee on page 9or Audit and Risk Committee on page 4) but afocused overview would be helpful. Moreover,as mentioned in last year's Panel feedback,actual results from the governance review in2013 would have been helpful. | 4.3 Independence of Board Members   |  |
| Fully addressedThe WVI board has 24 members, 23 beingindependent/non-executive.  | Noted.   |
| 4.4 Feedback from internal stakeholders   |  |
| Fully addressedThe answer demonstrates a systematicmechanism by internal stakeholders tocommunicate to the WVI Board – e.g. viasenior staff which attend Board committeesor via the People Committee whose keyobjective is to advise theBoard on staff issues. Last year's reportprovided very good evidence and specificexamples of stakeholder involvement, whichwould have been welcomed in this report, too.  | Noted. While we would like to provide moredetails and examples for each segment ofthe report we need to balance this with ourcommitment to reduce the size of thereport.                                 |
| 4.5 Compensation and benefits   |  |
| Fully addressedApart from the President / CEO who serves asan executive member of the Board, all Boardmembers are non-compensated volunteers.Pages 48 to 50 describe detailed procedures inplace to determine and benchmark executivesalaries. A table provides insights of the WVIsenior executives with the five highest basesalaries. A link to the Total RewardsPhilosophy will be appreciated in next year'sreport. What are departure arrangements? | Noted. As indicated above (4.1), a numberof documents are posted on the WVinternal portal but can be availed onrequest. We will however give more detailon departure arrangements in our nextreport. |
| 4.6 Managing conflicts of interest  |  |
| Fully addressedAll Board members must annually identify anddisclose any actual or potential conflict ofinterest which also includes information aboutfinancial interests. Is this informationpublished?  | We take note of the value added inpublishing this information so we willconsider plan making the informationpublic.  |
| 4.10 Ensuring performance and support of highest governance body  |  |
| AddressedWorld Vision describes a sound process ofregular reviews after each Board meeting andcomprehensive peer reviews. Practicalexamples of findings would have helped informthis report. How does the commendablePartnership Governance Committee use results   | We will give more details in our next report.However, the issue of links remains achallenge as indicated above (see 4.1).  |

| 4.14, 4.15 List of stakeholders / Basis foridentification of stakeholders   |  |
| Addressed   |  |
| Stakeholders and partnering are outlined onpages 13/14; some more information is givenon page 34 ("clients are primarily poor womenand men with dependent children in theirhousehold") and World Vision provides the agegroup of children they specifically target.However, an overall comprehensive overviewis missing and the process for prioritisation ofstakeholders could be more explicit. Moreover,the 2012 report provided a list of criteriadetermining the value of external relationshipwhich was highly commended by the Panel atthe time. | Information that is provided in detail in our2012 report remains valid. In the spirit ofcutting the size of the report, it has notbeen possible to replicate the same detailsin this report. We will improve our nextreport with a more comprehensive overviewof stakeholders' identification andprioritisation or by providing a link /reference as an alternative. |

| NGO2 | Mechanisms for feedback and complaints   |   |
|      | AddressedIn 2014, complaint response mechanisms(CRMs) remained a critical standard in theimplementation of food programmes.Moreover, numerous examples are givenof cross-sector collaboration of improvingaccountability including feedbackmechanisms (e.g. WV Sudan) . Effortswere made in 2014 to introducetechnology into accountabilitymechanisms e.g. the commendable PhotoVoice tool allows collecting children'sfeedback and complaints duringevaluations.Contextualised beneficiary feedbackmechanisms have been developed in apilot for seven countries.While this is all very interesting anecdotalinformation, it falls short of laying out asuccinct and federation wide approach onhow World Vision ensures feedback andcomplaints are systematically invited,collected, analysed and acted upon Thereport omits information on the differenttypes of complaints received. Why were | World Vision adopted the PAF(Programme AccountabilityFramework). This has been included indifferent processes/tools for programsto enhance our accountability. ThePAF is being implemented in variousprograms at the field level, easilyadopted by our humanitarianprograms but with more limitedimplementation in our developmentoperations.
