Situation updates

Flooding in the Somali region has affected 165,000 people and displaced 98,000 people. Homes have been destroyed, farmland submerged, crops destroyed, livestock killed and schools inundated with water. There is an urgent need for food, water, health services and core relief items such as temporary shelter materials, blankets and hygiene kits. World Vision is responding in Dollo Ado - where 26,000 people have been displaced - and aims to provide mosquito nets, mattresses, jerricans for carrying water and cooking stoves to families affected by the flooding. The organization aims to provide more than 14,000 people with assistance in the weeks to come.

● Areas affected by floods

630,000

affected by floods

214,000

displaced by floods

In southern Somalia, flooding has destroyed crops, killed livestock, damaged water and sanitation systems and disrupted schooling. Cholera cases are expected to rise as flood waters contaminate shallow wells and pose a major threat to human health. World Vision is distributing shelter kits, blankets, clothes, cooking material and hygiene kits to flood-affected families.

Already, in two states affected, 16,842 people have been reached. Another 55,158 people are expected to be provided essential emergency relief items in the weeks to come. In the longer term, World Vision aims to distribute nutrition and food supplies, repair flood-affected schools and set-up emergency health care treatment.
